Two piece wildland firefighting

Measurement

- Chest Measure around the chest, below the arms and across the back.
- Waist Measurements should be taken over shirt at the waistline. Measures at position (height) trousers are normally worn.
- Inleg Take your most comfortable pair of correct length trousers and measure inside leg seam from crotch to hem.

Directions

- Jacket Using table below, match your chest measurement with jacket size. Keep in mind the jackets are designed and made loose fitting.
- Trouser Use waist measurement first to determine size, then match your inleg measurement to determine if you require a Regular, Stout or Long (e.g. 92cm waist and 78cm inleg =92R)

Note: Generally the jacket size should correspond to the trouser size (i.e. a size 92 jacket will go with a size 92R, 92S, 89L or 94L trouser). In most cases the jacket and trouser size should not vary by more than 2 sizes. Your current coverall size is the best indication of the "set" size you require.

Wildland Jackets – J079
